
ASIAN AMERICAN CHRISTIANITY LECTURESHIP

“LIVING OUT THE GOSPEL: ASIAN AMERICAN CONTRIBUTIONS AND CHALLENGES”

CO-SPONSORED BY THE INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF ASIAN AMERICAN CHRISTIANITY AND
FULLER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

OCTOBER 15 & 16, 2009
Fuller Theological Seminary
Pasadena, CA

The Lectureship

The Asian American Christianity Lectureship has been established in order to address the unique challenges facing Asian American Christians and churches in all their generational, cultural, and theological differences. Co-sponsored by the Institute for the Study of Asian American Christianity (ISAAC) and Fuller Theological Seminary, which serves the largest and most diverse Asian American population in the United States, the annual lectureship will provide an invigorating series of lectures by leading Asian American voices in theology and ministry.

The Objectives of the Lectureship

- To engage in conversation with Asian American theologians and practitioners.
- To investigate and invest in the complex relationships between Asian American Christians, Asian American churches, and predominantly white seminary education.
- To challenge and construct Asian American theologies for the church.

The Lectureship's Format

- Lecture and Discussion
- Panels
- Breakout sessions
- Asian American Art and Performances

“Living Out the Gospel: Asian American Contributions and Challenges”

This year's lectureship, “Living Out the Gospel,” will address continuity and change in the on-going development of Asian American church ministries. It will specifically question the difficult and often painful relationship between innovation and faithfulness in the lives of Asian Americans and Asian American churches. What reconciliation is possible between generations that define themselves by, on the one hand, immigration, tradition, and family, and on the other hand, individualism and autonomy, integration, and friendship by internet? If newly emerging Asian American churches remain loyal to their first-generation predecessors, will they be able to continue to move forward? What are Asian Americans sacrificing by leaving behind their mother churches and striking out on their own? What will “the Gospel” look like within the “living” context of changing Asian American identities, problems, and dreams? Richly theological and deeply personal, this year’s lectureship will prove to be constructive.

This year’s lecturer will be Dr. Jonathan Tran (PhD Duke University) who is assistant professor of theological ethics in the Department of Religion at Baylor University, one of the largest Christian universities in the world. A former ministry practitioner with Asian American churches and InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, he is author Faith on the Edge (IVP, 1999), The Vietnam War and Theologies of Memory: Time and Eternity in the Far Country (Blackwell, Fall 2009) and Theology and Foucault (T & T Clark International, Fall 2010). Emigrated from Vietnam at an early age, Dr. Tran’s journey into Christianity has been coupled with an ethnic awakening that has thoroughly influenced his theological life.

2009 Lectureship Schedule

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15

- 3:30pm Registration [AAWOL and Fuller Alum’s Office]
- 4:00 pm Welcome address [The President Richard Mouw on screen]
- 4:20pm Lecture I, “Living Out the Gospel: Asian American Contributions and Challenges”
by Dr. Jonathan Tran
- 5:10pm Panel Response I on “Multivocal Identities
- 6:15pm Light dinner
- 7:00pm Break out sessions [facilitated by Asian American Pastors]
- 8:30pm Break out sessions report
- 9:00pm Adjourn

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16

- 9:00am Lecture II, “Living Out the Gospel: Asian American Contributions and Challenges”
by Dr. Jonathan Tran
- 10:00am Panel Response II
- 11:00am Asian American Poetry [Paul J. Kim, Youth Pastor & Hip Hop Artist]
- 11:20am Break out sessions
- 12:30pm Luncheon [sponsored by local Asian American churches]
- 1:30pm Plenary
- 2:00pm Closing Worship
- 2:30pm Adjourn

Small group facilitators: Local Asian American Pastors.
Onsite Registration: Fuller’s Alumni Office