

For the Academy

Society of Asian North American Christian Studies (SANACS)

SANACS is a community of scholars who are interested in an inter-disciplinary study of Asian North American Christianity. SANACS promotes the study of Christianity and religion among North American Asians through the publication of a journal (see sanacs.org).

Religion in Asian America Lectures

We partner with colleges and seminaries to bring scholars who specialize in Asian American religion to their campuses.

Theological Initiatives

We are in conversation with a number of seminaries about providing supplemental curriculum support for their Masters and D.Min. degree programs.

For Church and Community

Equipping and Resource Center

Contextualized classes and workshops for lay leaders and pastors in subjects such as Sunday School teaching, the history of Asian American Christianity, spiritual formation in Asian American ministries, college admissions counseling, etc..

Asian American Women on Leadership (AAWOL)

AAWOL offers networking opportunities, mentoring through the RTF (Round Table Fellowship), retreats, and workshops. It is also committed to researching Asian North American Women's Legacies.

The Leadership Connection (TLC)

ISAAC partners with TLC to support pastors through Executive Coaching. We also partner with TLC to support Asian American Christian business leaders.
